

Armstrong Rebuffs Cozens' Statement On Incorporation

By Tom Gorton
News Editor

Is criticism of the controversial Local Agency Formation Commission unwarranted and premature?

Robert C. Cozens, chairman of County Board of Supervisors, told a County News Service reporter last week that criticism of the new commission is premature and unwarranted. Cozens may serve on the commission, which will have authority to control with or without amendment incorporations and annexations in the county.

Frank Armstrong, local attorney and chairman of the Lemon Grove Men's Club committee that will file a Notice of Intention to incorporate next week with the Board of Supervisors, says No.

"I think Cozens' statement is unjustified," Armstrong retorted this week. "It is always a serious matter when any group of persons are prevented from being able to vote upon the type of local government they desire to have in their community."

"The effect of Assembly Bill 1662," Armstrong asserted, "which establishes the Local Agency Formation Commission, is to deny the voters in unincorporated areas the right to decide the form of local government which they believe is best for their area."

The commission, which will begin operation after September 20, will be composed of five members, two representing the county, two chosen by the mayors of the cities in the county to represent the cities, and a fifth member chosen by the first four members of the commission. However, no qualifications are given in the new legislation for this fifth member. He could represent either city or unincorporated interest, or be completely neutral.

Proponents of unincorporated areas fear the commission will be ruled by three members representing city interests, and the commission will use its veto power to halt incorporation attempts, yet okay annexations to cities bordering on unincorporated territories.

"The obvious purpose of the new law," Armstrong said, "is to prevent unincorporated areas from incorporating so that cities bordering on those territories can eventually annex them. What makes this so obvious," Armstrong explained, "is that the League of California Cities and the State Board of Supervisors pushed Assembly Bill 1662 in the last session of the legislature."

Armstrong said he agrees with Assemblyman Frank Lanterman of La Canada, who earlier charged that six bills, including A.B. 1662, "constitute a perfect package of oblivion for people in unincorporated areas."

Lanterman was charged two weeks ago by Richard Carpenter, executive director of the League of California Cities, of stampeding many Southern California areas into new incorporation moves.

Lanterman, a long time defender of unincorporated areas in the State Legislature, said the law itself is prompting the spate of cityhood moves. His earlier prediction that passage of the legislation would inspire "defensive incorporations" is coming true, he said.

Lanterman also predicted that the Local Agency Formation Commission will discourage incorporation moves adjacent to existing cities because the cities will have the major control over the commission.

Paradoxically, a number of San Diego County cities opposed the new legislation. Escondido City Manager Lloyd Mitchell said the Escondido City Council passed a resolution denouncing the legislation because it imposes on the home rule of cities.

Likewise, La Mesa also originally opposed the new legislation because "it infringes on the home rule," Glenn Kindall, La Mesa city manager said. Home rule is the right of the people to make their own decisions. However, La Mesa is not alarmed by the new legislation. Kindall said he believes chances of the commission having a neutral and fair attitude to both cities and unincorporated areas is favorable.

Cities have protested the new legislation because they fear it will curb their annexation rights, whereas unincorporated areas fear it will prevent future incorporation attempts and raise the chances of annexation by neighboring cities.

"Is criticism unwarranted and premature?"

Freeways Safer Than Horse-and-Buggy Days Dekema Tells Men's Club

Jacob Dekema, district engineer for the State Division of Highways, told the Lemon Grove Men's Club Friday that little of the money spent by the division until 1972 would be used for anything other than the interstate freeway system.

Actually, 85 per cent of the $100 million budgeted is earmarked "interstate," he said. "Furthermore, freeways are the safest roads," he added.

Freeways Safest
Dekema claimed that California freeways are three times as safe as the rural state legislative road system. "Three times as many fatalities occur on the rural system," he added. "Fatalities on both systems occur in equal numbers between head-on collisions and rear-end collisions, he reported."

"Surprisingly," he said, "there were 10 times as many deaths in the horse and buggy days as there are on today's freeways. In 1909 there were 30 deaths every 100 million miles traveled. Today there are three deaths.

Hot Line To Doctor
A collateral benefit is the reduction in deaths due to serious illnesses, Dekema explained. "In the horse and buggy days it took hours to get a patient to a doctor, or the doctor to the patient. Consequently, the patient had to be very sick before the doctor was called. Today, with doctors just a few minutes away, usually by freeway, the patient is transported to the doctor before it becomes a life-or-death matter," Dekema said.

Dekema will take part in the ceremony scheduled Monday for the opening of the South Bay Expressway which runs from La Presa south.

This week, a program will be presented by Armando Rodriguez, vice-principal of Gompers high school, Rodriguez, an unsuccessful candidate for the assembly from this district, lives in Lemon Grove. He is also a member of the Democratic Central Committee.

The club meets Fridays at noon at Michael's in L.G. It is open to the male population.

Got Rummage? It's Needed

Now is the time to clean those closets and discard those items you no longer use. Someone else might need them.

The annual clothing drive for Spring Valley Welfare has been scheduled September 23-25 to raise money to help needy families, scholarships and camperships.

The La Mesa-Spring Valley School District will be sending 5,700 bags home to be filled with items for the rummage sale. The welfare organization also has two drop boxes for rummage at Walker's Texaco and Art's Lumber for the convenience of Spring Valley and Casa de Oro residents.

Spring Valley Welfare is a non-profit, self-supporting, organization.

Park District, Tax Increase Pass in S.V.

Citizens of Spring Valley went to the polls Tuesday and approved the formation of a park and recreation district which will embrace some 2,500 acres.

The district may eventually result in the construction of a community center building, according to Mrs. Elaine Horowitz, secretary of the citizen's committee that proposed the district.

Charles Sexton, registrar of voters, recorded official results of the election was 328 for, and 173 against. There were 4,011 eligible voters.

In approving the district, voters also established a tax rate of 20 cents for every $100 of assessed valuation by a vote of 313 to 188. There were 23 precincts participating in the election.

Warm? It Was 100 Degrees

The temperature hit 95 degrees in Lemon Grove Tuesday making it officially the hottest day of the year to date, the L. G. Fire Department reported Wednesday.

The Department is the official weather station keeper for the community.

Other temperatures during the current heat spell were: Saturday, 61; Sunday, 92 and Monday 90. The low varied from 60 to 63 degrees.

Wednesday at 1 p.m. the thermometer registered 100 degrees—the highest since the weather station was started in 1962.

One grass fire was put down when 2½ acres in a canyon between McKnight and Bonita sts. burned requiring 3 engines to control it Tuesday.

School Population Drops 125 in L.G.

Attendance on the first day of school was off 125 pupils, the Lemon Grove school board was informed Tuesday night at the first board meeting of the new school year.

Only 3,875 pupils turned up Tuesday, 4,000 enrolled on opening day a year ago. Usually, about 100 more are added to the roll during the first month. Conversely, San Miguel school enrolled 25 pupils more than last year. One less teacher is being employed by this district this year, Byron Netzel, district superintendent reported.

Netzel told the board that he will spell out the procedures at the next board meeting for responding to the requirements of the County Committee on School District Organization. The action is mandatory and each district must decide whether it wants to be a part of a larger district or a unified one.

The next step, according to Netzel, is to participate in the Grossmont Study Committee on School District Organization. The board will then name committee members.

Paul Reynolds, district business manager, reported to the board that the Lemon Grove tax rate for 1963-64 will be $2.678 for each $100 assessed valuation, up .352 from the year before. The rate is a penny more than estimated when voters were asked to approve at tax increase earlier.

The increase, however, is in building fund repayment; community services expenses and increased payroll taxes.

Kiwanis Club Kids' Day To Feature Parade, Movie

A special program for the youth of the community will be sponsored by the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club September 21, according to Jack Durham, club president.

The program will feature a parade, a movie and sporting events for children between the ages of 6 and 14. A schedule and details about the free events will appear next week in this newspaper.

Hundreds of other Kiwanis Clubs across the nation and Canada will sponsor similar events as part of Kids' Day, an annual observation in behalf of youth sponsored by Kiwanis International.

Kiwanis chairman for the local event is Frenchy Faucher, who pointed out that youth work has been a major part of the Kiwanis program through the 48 years of the organization's history.

The Kids' Day observance focuses special attention on youth and encourages Kiwanis clubs to develop youth programs tailored to the needs of their communities.

Assisting Chairman Faucher will be committee members Paul Reynolds, Bob Howell, Bert Cosby, Doug Giles, Ray Carmony, Robert Burns and Stan Rogers.

All funds raised in Kids' Days activities are used exclusively in youth work in Lemon Grove. The local Kiwanis Club's Apple Day and Pancake funds will be used to support the Kids' Day event, as they have in past years.

NATIVE COSTUME—Ng Lee Ngo, Mount Miguel high's foreign exchange student from Singapore, Malaya, shows her native costume, a cheongsam, to her newly adopted sisters, Betty Ann Haas, center, and Marilyn Haas,

Exchange Students Arrive From Singapore, London

Ng Lee Ngo arrived in this country in late August from Singapore, Malaya under the American Field Service program and will be a student at Mt. Miguel high school this year.

Traveling from the other side of the world is Melvyn Lewis of London, England, who arrived in San Diego this week and also will be an exchange student at Mt. Miguel.

Lee, who is 17-years old and 5 ft. tall, arrived in San Francisco August 31 and proceeded to Palo Alto where she was oriented to American customs and laws. Melvyn, on the other hand, received his instruction while traveling from Europe aboard the SS Seven Seas, a 574-ton vessel modified to serve as a floating University of the Seven Seas.

Both Lee and Melvyn are the youngest members of their families. He father operates a grocery store in the heart of Singapore, her oldest sister, Alicia, is a teacher, and her 22-year-old sister, Mellicent, is in her fourth year studying medicine at Singapore University. Lee also has a brother who is studying at the University of Alberta, Canada.

Melvyn comes from a family of four boys. Lee, who is staying with the Alvin Haas family 9147 Rosedale in Spring Valley, said she was graduated from an all-girl secondary school of about 600 in Singapore. All girls? "Most schools in Malaya are like that," she answered cheerfully. "Students can major in either art or science in secondary school," she explained. She majored in science and carried subjects in math, geography, English language, English literature, physics with chemistry, biology, additional math and Chinese language in her last year of secondary school.

"We speak English all the time," she said. Chinese (Mandarin) is her second language and she speaks some Malay, her national language. "We speak our own Chinese dialect at home," she remarked.

"Singapore is very cosmopolitan," she explained in clear, fluent English. "Eighty per cent of the population is composed of the Malays; Indians, Chinese and Europeans make up the other 20 per cent."

Melvyn, who has varied interests in debating, chess, reading and dancing, will be living with the Tom Howard family at 8760 Harness dr., S. V.

Melvyn, 16, is keen on sports and lists cricket, football, billiards, snooker and table tennis as his favorites.

He is an avid cyclist and has organized three student trips to the European continent. His major subject in school was chemistry and he would like to be a research chemist.

The Cleaves Hardins of 9195 Harness rd. in Spring Valley will open their cacti garden to the public this Sunday.

The garden contains about 1,200 different species in the cacti family and some 1,500 different kinds of succulent plants one a one-half acre lot. "We have plants growing on tops of each other," Hardin says. (Woe to the parachutist who drops in.)

The Hardins, playing host to the public and the National City Garden Club, will serve cactus juice Sunday . . . "It's different than anything you've ever tasted," Hardin promises.

The Hardins won $350 at the County fair this year placing second in the hanging succulent and rock garden divisions and fourth and fifth in the cacti

Public Is Invited to La Presa Road Opening

A public ribbon cutting ceremony scheduled for Monday at 2 p.m. will open the 5 mile, 4 lane expressway connecting La Presa with the South Bay area.

The ceremony will take place at the expressway's intersection at Sweetwater rd., just west of the Spring Valley shopping center.

David W. Bird, county supervisor in whose district the road is built, will be master of ceremonies. David K. Speer, County Road Commissioner and Jacob Dekema, Assistant State Highway Engineer for the State's Division of Highways will join Bird in the ribbon-cutting and speaking ceremonies.

Robert Youman, S.D. County Chaplain will give the invocation and the Sweetwater high school band will provide music. Colors will be presented by Sweetwater high Calif. Cadet Corps Color Guard. Following the ribbon cutting, a motorcade will tour the project.

Part of South Bay

The project is the first portion of the South Bay freeway which will eventually connect with U.S. 101 in Chula Vista and State 80 at La Mesa.

The expressway was completed by the State Division of Highways as part of the County's Federal Aid Highway being built into the State's Free-way-Expressway system. The $2 1/4 millions cost was shared by county, state and federal governments.

'Belt-Line' Freeway

The importance of this route was recognized in the County Wide Master Plan for Major Highways adopted by the Board of Supervisors in 1952. Labeled the "Belt-Line Freeway," its intention was to permit through traffic to by-pass the more congested parts of metropolitan San Diego, and make it easy for vehicles bound to or from downtown San Diego to use one of the cross-town freeways which

Designing Begins

In May of 1957 this route was included in the County Federal Aid Secondary System. A project report for Federal participation was submitted in August of '59 and designing began.

As design work progressed and as the necessary freeway and expressway system for San Diego was laid out, it became apparent that this would be a desirable freeway location. The County Board of Supervisors acted accordingly and in August, 1960 it was declared a County Freeway so access rights could be acquired with the right of way.

In October of 1961 this location was officially adopted by the California Highway Commission and designated leg. route No. 280 in the California Freeway and Expressway System.

Program schedule of the ceremony Monday includes:

- Band concert
- Invocation
- Colors presentation
- Pledge of Allegiance
- National Anthem
- Master of Ceremonies David Bird
- Remarks by D. K. Speer
- Remarks by Jacob Dekema
- Ribbon cutting
- Cavalcade through project

Teacher-Parent Conferences — Pipeline from School to Home

With this issue of the newspaper we are starting a series pertaining to schools. Much of the material is culled from the Education News Service, a projection of the California Teachers Association.

Johnny's and Mary's parents, we feel will acquire a better understanding of the teacher-to-pupil intent if they follow this series.

We shall attempt to cover a different facet of youngsters educational processes with each article.

This week we discuss teacher-parent conferences and what they mean.

Not so many years ago, if Bobby's parents received a note from his teacher saying that she would like to have a little talk with them, it usually carried a dire implication: Bobby was in trouble at school.

Today such a note is far less likely to cause dismay at home. What it means, in all probability, is that Bobby's school is a firm believer in keeping the channels of communication open between school and parents. And one of the main channels is the teacher-parent conference.

In California the teacher-parent conference is a practice widely used by the schools to inform parents about their children's progress. It's a supplement to the report card. It enables a mother and father to find out, far better than they can from a few impersonal squiggles or a report card, just how their youngster is doing. Not only do they learn what the squiggles mean, but in the course of a 20-minute or half-hour chat with the teacher they get an explanation-in-depth of what he is doing in school and why he is doing it. They get the "big" school picture. And, not infrequently, they wind up learning one or two things about their own child that they hadn't known before.

"The teacher-parent conference," says one educator, "begins where other reporting methods end. The parent brings to the conference his own very special understanding of what the child is like at home. The teacher brings an insight of what the child is like at school. With these two perspectives in focus, everybody gains—especially the child."

Actually the parent-teacher conference is a chance for parents to get answers to quite a few questions besides that all-important question, "How's Bobby doing?" Mothers and fathers of small children just starting school, for instance, often go to such a conference with basic questions: What will their youngsters study? How do the schools teach read-

Julie, Peter, Paul, Mary To Appear at SDSC

An evening of jazz at San Diego State will introduce the fall series of lectures and concerts to the campus and the community. The series is sponsored by the Associated Students at San Diego State.

Miss Julie London and Bobby Troup will appear Friday, October 4 at 8 p.m., in the campus open-air theater.

Performances are open to the public. Tickets will be available at the campus bookstore and at area ticket offices.

Troup encouraged Miss London to embark on a singing career when she was known only as a film actress. Her success was assured with the release of her recording hit, "Cry Me A River."

Troup, a prize-winning jazz vocalist and arranger, has composed such hits as "Daddy," "Route 66," and "Baby, Baby All The Time."

An evening of folk music with Peter, Paul and Mary will be the second attraction in the series. This fast-rising group will perform Thursday, November 7, in Peterson gymnasium. The concert will begin at 8 p.m.

A festive program of Russian dances and folk songs will be featured by the talented Don Cossack dancers and chorus in November.

William Clauson, noted troubador, will complete the fall series when he appears in January.

Fallout Kits Given to CD Stations Here

The County Civil Defense Organization has delivered radiological monitoring instrument kits to 44 out of 66 stations in San Diego County unincorporated areas.

The equipment was delivered to each station that has at least two persons qualified to operate the meters, according to William B. Marty, county administrative leader for civil defense.

Qualified monitoring personnel in the Spring Valley Local Fire District, which received a kit, are Lucius D. Lawton, Stanley W. Mourning and Richard W. Sass.

Frederick D. Hanson and Edward Smith are trained to use the radiological monitoring kit given to the County Road Department in Lemon Grove.

Each station in the unincorporated area is a part of the 191-station network of the countywide radiological defense service, Marty said.

If there should ever be a nuclear war, radiological fallout would not drop to earth in a uniform pattern. The value of the countywide network would be that the intensity of radiation could be measured in all parts of San Diego county and the areas of danger and safety could be determined.

Citizens could then be moved out of areas of dangerous exposure into places where they would be less exposed, he said. The County Civil Defense Organization, thus far, has trained 1,257 men and women to operate monitoring instruments.

TURNING FIRST SHOVEL — Members of Lemon Grove Methodist Church will gather Sunday to break ground for a new 500 seat sanctuary to be located on the corner of Washington and Golden. Howard Stiner, church builder and general contractor, was low bidder for the sanctuary which will have a 90-foot spire and will feature stain glass windows. James Bernard (far left), San Diego architect of the sanctuary, said the church will be a stone structure with Gothic arches. Total cost including furniture, building, paving for 150 cars and equipment is estimated at $170,000. Standing left of Bernard are Ralph Yokley, chairman of the stewardship campaign at the church; Carl Fritz, chairman of the church board of trustees; the Rev. Jordan Detzer, pastor; Frank Armstrong, church attorney and a member of the church developing committee; and Harold Wolfe, chairman of the developing committee.

Heavy Line Seen On Griffin Squad

by Norman Hutsell

Grossmont Sports Writer
Jim Erkenbeck, football mentor at Grossmont College, will not have to worry about size this year or speed in the line as numerous quick, good-sized linemen showed up for check-out August 30.

Erkenbeck starts to glow when the line is mentioned again, and he isn't too far wrong when he says this line could be one of the best.

In using a combination of the Pro-T and "I" formations, Erkenbeck will employ a tight and a split end.

Bill Leep, returning letterman, and newcomers Ron Schwab of Mt. Miguel and Harlan Chase of Helix will be the tight ends. Allen Noel from Birmingham High of Los Angeles, John Wheeler all-Grossmont League and from El Capitan, and Carl Clendenon of Granite Hills will handle the split end situation.

Tackle Strongest

Tackle probably will be the strongest spot on the Grossmont Griffin roster with seven athletes coming in at over 200 pounds.

Frank Reed, 220 pound letterman, will be one of the top Griffin prospects for all-conference, with Steve Rivera from Oceanside-Carlsbad J.C., Norman May, 220 pounder from El Cajon high, and Bob Henselmeier, all-Marine from Grossmont being the other top-notch tackles.

Rivera was selected on the South Central Conference all-league squad while May was an all-leaguer from El Cajon.

Mike Beatty will give the size that is needed with his 260 pounds which are put on a 6'5" frame. The former all-Gross-mont League tackle from Helix is a tiger on defense and loves to play the game.

Eugene Henselmeier, brother of Bob Henselmeier, checked in at a later date and although he is behind the other candidates he will be counted on to add strength in the line.

Dave Logan, 190 pounds from Grossmont, Jim Foster, 207 pounder, and Thad Francis from Granite Hills will be the other aspiring tackles.

Four Guards

Only four guards are listed but two of those are returning lettermen Martin Zecavich and Ron Michaels.

Zacavich comes in at 185 pounds and Michaels weighs 190, both having good speed and maneuverability.

Dick Campbell, 215 pounds, and Chester Phillips, 145 pounds, are the other guards.

The center position will be strong with giant Glenn (Baby Huey) Cook, 6'7", 275 pounder from El Capitan and Bob Steckman, 210 pounds, a transfer from the University of Utah.

"Cook really looks impressive out there. If he comes along as I expect, he could be one of the top linemen in the Eastern Conference," Erkenbeck said. The gigantic lineman will probably spend most of his time on defense where he is best known.

Steckman does not have the size that Cook possesses, but his does not keep him from being a tough-hard-nosed lineman that Erkenbeck loves.

Prospects Don't Show

Coach Erkenbeck shows concern over the backfield candidates as several "blue-chip" prospects expected to show failed to turn up.

Among them were Steve Hill, all-Grossmont League Fullback and Leon Herzog, all-CIF for two years at El Capitan high.

"Bob Christian could be the best running back yet to carry the green and gold colors. He really looks good, especially on pass plays where his ability to hang on to practically everything that come his way and his uncanny balance makes him a threat to go all the way for six points," Erkenbeck said.

Christian played for El Cajon high last year and over the summer has gained twenty pounds to his now 180. The former Brave is slated for the wingback slot.

Tailback will be handled by returning letterman Mike Shaw, 165 pound speedster while Russ Eckhardt, a .09.7 sprinter, will give plenty of support.

The fullback spot again belongs to Pete Ostrom, 190 pounds, and he will receive assistance from Virgil Parks of Pt. Loma and Herb Howell, transfer from Lewis & Clark University.

Father of Atlas Is First Speaker

The "Father of the Atlas Missile" will be the first Grossmont College assembly speaker of the 1963-64 year.

Karel J. Bossart, whose official title is technical director of General Dynamic/Astronautics, will speak September 18 at 3 p.m. in the Monte Vista high school gymnasium. The assembly is open to the public.

Bossart was the project engineer who 17 years ago led a group of 50 designers in developing the MX-774 Hirock research rocket, the forerunner of the Atlas.

He and his group introduced three technical innovations that have since become integral parts of the complex art of rocketry: the first separable nose cone, the first missile in which its propellant tanks are part of the missile structure and the first swiveling of engines for direction control of rockets.

Bossart's awards and decorations include the Air Force Exceptional Civilian Service Award, named "Man of the Year in Science" in 1959 by the California Air Force Association, Sylvanus Albert Reed Award, Dr. Robert H. Goddard Memorial Trophy, British Interplanetary Award, and the Belgian Order of Leopold.

Childhood Wall Drawing Leads To Career Goal

"When I was three years old, I ruined our new dining room wall by drawing," reminisced Jan Eckler.

"I've always been drawing," exclaimed the seventeen-year old Mount Miguel high school senior. And Jan's artistic ability has paid off in many ways.

Local merchants in Lemon Grove paid Jan over $65 last Christmas for painting murals on their shop windows. During the summer she was asked to design Mount Miguel's Associated Student Body cards for 1963-64.

Jan's big break came in 1961 when she was the Grand Sweepstakes winner in the Lemon Grove Halloween Paint - up. Since then she has done art work for literary magazines and various groups, and will be a staff artist for the Mount Miguel newspaper, El Trovador.

At Mount Miguel the five-foot, ten-inch co-ed will be in a special honors art class for the second year.

Woman Gets Gypped $23 By Salesman

A 79-year-old Spring Valley housewife took a $32 magazine subscription last Friday and found she had been short-changed $23.

Mrs. Byrd Moore of 921 Birch st. told Sheriff's deputies she went to her bedroom dresser drawer to get the money for the magazine subscription. She gave $35 to the magazine salesman, who observed her take the money from the drawer. He told her he didn't have change and gave her back 50 cents—then he left.

The magazine salesman returned later and told Mrs. Moore she still owed him $3. He asked for a drink of water and then gained permission to use the victim's bathroom, which is adjacent to the bedroom, while Mrs. Moore was in the kitchen.

When the salesman, who said he was in a contest, left again, Mrs. Moore discovered $20 missing from her bedroom drawer.

"A Child Is Waiting"

Michael Harold Rich, age 7, was found Saturday night by Deputy D. Dicus in a car parked in front of a Lemon Grove bar. The boy allegedly was left there by his parents who were inside the bar that evening and later were driven home by a friend.

Deputy Dicus said he went to the boy's home at 1914 Madera st., Lemon Grove, and tried to talk to Michael's mother, Mrs. Norma Jean Lieras. However, she refused to talk about her son, Dicus said. Mrs. Lieras was arrested on a charge of child neglect, while Michael was taken to Hillcrest Receiving Home.

ing? When are children taught in groups rather than as an entire class? When does the school start teaching science?

The conference is a chance, too, for parents to find out how their youngsters get along with other children and with other adults.

Many schools, along with individual teacher-parent conferences, have a policy of inviting parents in for group conferences once a year. At these sessions parents learn about a teacher's background and experience and find out what the year will bring in terms of their children's education.

Group conferences serve another purpose. The opening of school can be a pretty tense time for all concerned—children, parents and teachers. Group conferences are often just what the doctor ordered to ease opening-of-school jitters.

The whole teacher-parent conference idea, besides keeping channels open between school system and community, accomplishes something even more important. It tells the youngster that his teacher and his parents are teamed together, working "for" him instead of at cross-purposes "against" him.

Beginning and End

The last word in an argument is what a wife has. Anything a husband says after that is the beginning of another argument.

Science Can Get You In The Hospital—Or Out of It

Representatives of this newspaper and others were called upon to view two scientific developments in one day last week.

Representatives of news media were given a close-up look at Carl Hartnack's Security First National Bank's Computer and Operations Center in San Diego. The Center is built around a huge, electronic machine geared to process the output of more than a hundred clerks and bookkeepers.

The same day, Mesa Vista hospital, a non-profit mental health center on Kearny Mesa, adjacent Sharp hospital, was shown to the press. Here, Mesa Vista's president, Attorney Robert Thorn, told us that one in every ten persons will need mental care in his lifetime. The problem, Thorn explained, stems from the pressures, the stresses and strains of today's living.

Earlier that day Hartnack's aides had told us that the huge, impatient computer around which the bank's operations were built, was "time-geared" to separate one second into one million parts. No combination of human beings hurrying as they may, can overload it. Even so, that machine is being outmoded by another which breaks seconds into one billion parts.

Meanwhile, back at Mesa Vista, the staff was readying the facility for its first patient scheduled to come this week. C. J. Dixon, the hospital's director, was pointing out to those who toured the hospital-in-the-round that the new concept of mental institutions represented a clean break with the padded cell era. Rooms resemble high quality motel rooms. Staff and employees wear conventional street clothes and the white uniform is forbidden.

All associated with the hospital will present an unhurried, unharried attitude. All of this is designed to allow the patient to relax and depressurize himself while in an atmosphere of the outside world, but without the work-a-day world's stress and strain. Under these conditions the patient will recover more quickly, Dixon said.

As we hurried to these remarkable monuments to scientific progress, it dawned on us that we had this day witnessed the joining of a circle.

Plain, Simple Economic Truths

"There are certain truths which are true no matter how much the world may question or deny them. In the economic realm, for instance, you cannot legislate the poor into freedom by legislating the rich out of it. You cannot multiply wealth by dividing it. Governments cannot give to people what they do not first take away from the people. And that which one man receives without working for, another man must work for without receiving.

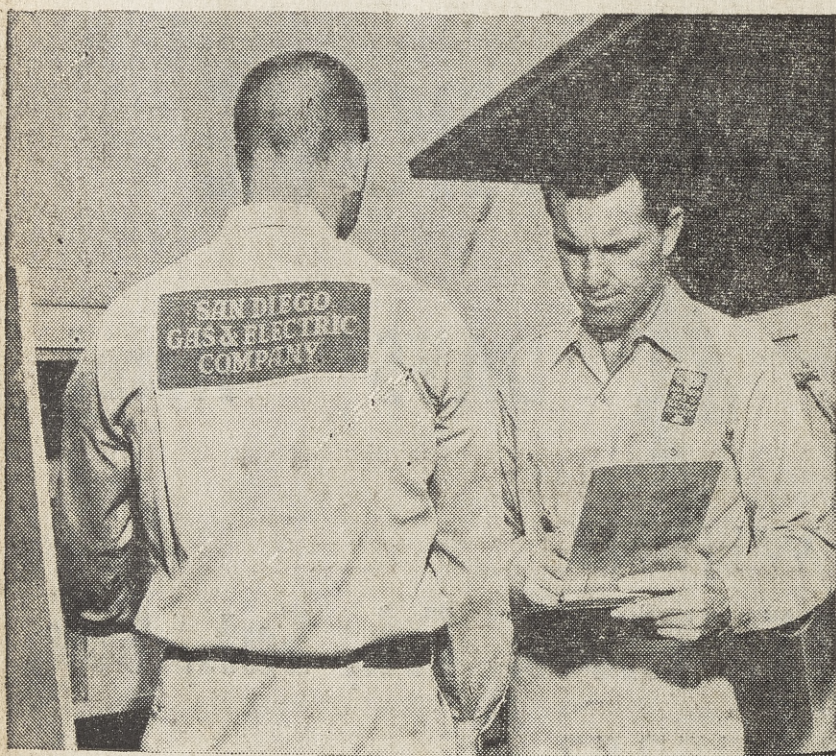

"And nothing can kill the initiative of a people quicker than for half to get the idea they need not work because the other half will feed them, and for the other half to get the idea it does no good to work since someone else will receive the rewards of their labors.

"Closing one's eyes to these facts will not change them one iota."

Water Districts To Open New Headquarters Building

Dedication ceremonies for the new $65,000 headquarters building which will house both the Otay Municipal and La Presa County water districts will be September 10 at 3 p.m.

Fred Heilbron, president of the San Diego County Water Authority, will be principal speaker at the event, which will include an open house until 6 p.m., according to Harry T. Baker, general manager of both districts.

The 3000 square foot headquarters building, designed by Stanley J. French, A.I.A., of Boyle Engineering, is located at the intersection of Sweetwater Springs Blvd. and Jamacha Blvd.

Customers Invited
Officials from all member agencies of the San Diego Water Authority, as well as 2,700 customers served by both districts have been invited to the dedication, Baker said.

The headquarters building was constructed on land owned by the La Presa County Water District with bond funds available to the district.

The Otay Municipal Water District, however, under a lease-purchase agreement, will rent space from the La Presa County Water District which, included with 3 per cent interest, is designed to pay back the entire amount of the bond in 25 years.

Serves L.G.
The Otay Municipal Water District, founded in 1956, is composed of 70,000 acres extending from Singing Hills Golf Club to San Ysidro and lies south and east of National City, Chula Vista, Lemon Grove, La Mesa, El Cajon and San Diego. It contains a population of 9,000 persons with 300 principally agricultural customers using approximately 750 acre feet of water per month. Its assessed valuation is 26 million dollars.

The La Presa County Water District, founded in 1957, is composed of 2,500 acres. It has a population of 7,200 persons with 2,400 residential customers using a total of 150 acre feet of water per month.

Improvements Cited
Approximately three-quarters of a million dollars of capital expenditures are contemplated in 1963-64 for water improvements primarily in connection with the Dictionary Hill subdivision.

The Otay Municipal Water District plans approximately $2 million in improvements within the next two years most of which will be devoted to the construction of an emergency reservoir of 540 acre feet. The plan includes a filtration plant and more than $700,000 in improvements on principal distribution mains in the area east of Chula Vista.

Board Members
Board members of the Otay Municipal Water District are James E. Schutte, president; Fritz Roll, vice president; John T. Allen, secretary-treasurer; Ralph W. Chapman and Bert C. Whitacre.

Board members of the La Presa County Water District are Fred J. Hansen, president; Ralph W. Chapman, vice president; G. Frank Berger, treasurer; Donald M. Walker and Deane A. Russell.

LeRoy Wright is attorney and Boyle Engineering acts as engineers for both districts.

Social Security Question Box

by Guy Deeks

These questions and answers are presented here to help you to better understand your rights and obligations under the Federal Social Security Law. You are invited to send your questions to this paper.

QUESTION: Can I make my granddaughter beneficiary of my social security benefit?

ANSWER: No, you cannot. The law sets forth what dependents are eligible for benefits. These are limited to minor and disabled children, the aged wife or aged dependent husband and the young wife with children in her care. In death cases, only the aged parents of the worker may be eligible and a lump sum benefit is available to help defray burial costs.

QUESTION: I have been told that I am fully insured under Social Security. Does this mean that I will be paid the maximum amount when I retire?

ANSWER: No. Benefit payments are based on average monthly earnings over a period of time. You have to be "fully insured" to get any benefits at all. Only certain death benefits are paid on a person who is less than fully insured.

Water District To 'Hold Line'

The Metropolitan Water District of Southern California will not increase its tax rate for the coming year, it was announced August 20 by District Board Chairman Joseph Jensen.

The decision to "hold the line" at the District's present tax rate of 14 cents per one hundred dollars of assessed valuation was made by the District's Board of Directors at a special meeting.

Jensen said that although the District is heading into a period of large capital costs for facilities to distribute surplus Northern California water, the present tax rate is adequate to meet current needs.

Four young men from the Lemon Grove area have enlisted in the U.S. Army, according to MSgt. Edward R. Edwards, local recruiter.

Enlisting for a three year period were Eric D. Wiest, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wiest, 1827 Costada ct., Lemon Grove, and Richard L. Valade, 18, son of Mrs. Mable B. Clements, 7407 Alvarado rd., La Mesa.

A Fish Story For the Man In the Pantry

By Jake Lister

If your wife gives you the fish eye when you come home with a big ugly flounder, rock cod, or sea bass, and says, "It wouldn't be so bad if those awful things tasted good, but they aren't any better to eat than look at," then listen.

The answer is to blend in other ingredients that (this is what you say) "Bring out the flavor." Actually, they add other flavors to make the fish less bland.

Cut the meat off the fish any way you like, just so it's in chunks and the bones and skin don't go along. Add salt and fry lightly in oil or butter in a skillet. Then place the fish and juice in a baking dish. Add some sliced onion (about a half for meat from a four or five pound fish), some raw potatoes browned on the outside, a can of small lima beans, some chopped fresh celery, and half a can of Rainier Ale.

Cover this with a white sauce (ask your wife's advice and this will make her fell part of the operation), and add enough lemon juice to make kibitzers pucker (it should be sour) put a lid on and bake in the oven at 275 or 300 degrees.

Thirty-five or forty minutes ought to be plenty unless the potatoes are bigger than chicken's eggs (best then to cut them into chunks).

Give your wife the remaining half-can of Rainier Ale, open up a full one for yourself, and, guests or no, dig in self-service style. Unless your fish was illegal to begin with, everyone will have plenty and no one should be able to mention "bland" or "He's looking at me."

BUSINESS STAYS AT PEAK LEVEL

Southern California's business activity continued at record levels, reaching another new high during the month of July, Harold E. Holsonback, manager of Security First National Bank's College Grove branch, reported this week.

As in previous months, strong advances in real estate sales paced the economic upturn. The local economy is operating at a level of more than seven per cent over the corresponding period of last year, Holsonback said.

Bank check clearings also registered substantial gains during July, while building and construction activity and department store sales dipped slightly below their record highs set in June.

Airman Program Open
To High Graduates

Opportunity was never better for the high school graduate in the Navy's High School Airman Recruit Program, announced Navy Recruiter A. G. Jackson.

The Navy Airman is an important and essential part of a close-knit team. Without him, the best pilot could not get his aircraft into the air. If fully qualified, the Navy will train young men in the fields of electronics, jet engines, air traffic control, weather information, aerial photography and many other fields of Naval Aviation.

High School Airman Recruits are assured training in an aviation specialty. For complete information on the program, visit Navy Recruiter A. G. Jackson at 211 "C" st., San Diego or call BE 9-9414.

Dr. Early added that the person remembered by a memorial gift or his family is always sent a card indicating who has made the tribute.

Persons remembered in the Lemon Grove area were Mrs. Vera O. Garrison, 7150 Broadway, and Nancy Jane Hassell, 2538 Cypress. Person remembered in the Spring Valley area was Mrs. Opal Sylvester, 10517 San Carlos.

S.D. County Property Taxes Par-up with State Average

SACRAMENTO — The average relationship of county assessed values to full cash values of taxable property throughout the State is 23.1 percent this year, a decrease of seven-tenths of a percentage point from last year's average, according to Richard Nevins, member of the State Board of Equalization.

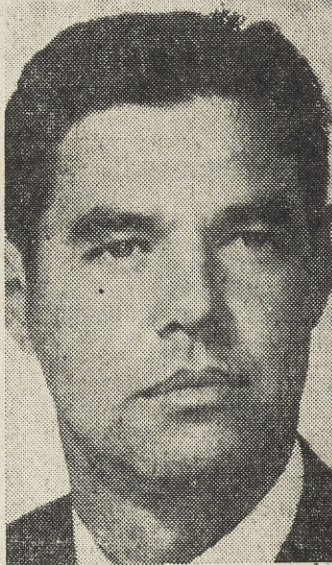

The statewide average reflects county ratios ranging from less than 19 per cent to a little over 27 per cent, Nevins stated. San Diego County's ratio is 23.3 per cent.

The law directs the State Board of Equalization to find and publish the ratio of assessed to full cash value for each county. This ratio is then used by the State Department of Education in the apportionment of state aid to school districts and by the State Controller to compute repayments of the state loans for school building construction.

In counties with ratios below the statewide average, county-wide taxes must be levied to raise funds for expenditure in any school districts within the county whose assessed values per student are low, Nevins added.

If a county's ratio differs greatly from the statewide average, the State Board of Equalization will order a change in assessed values on the local tax roll. The Board will decide later this month whether any such order is required.

If an order to raise assessed values is issued, the county auditor will be obliged to lower the tax rates so that the total amount of taxes is not altered. An order to lower assessed values would require an increase in tax rates.

School District Promotes Three

Three new promotional appointments were announced in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District recently.

Calvin Rodriguez, former resource teacher for the District, was appointed principal of Highlands elementary school in Spring Valley.

Rodriguez, who is beginning his eleventh year of service with the district, graduated from San Diego State with the bachelor's and master's degrees in education. He also holds the California State General Elementary and Elementary Administrative credentials.

In addition to his degrees Rodriguez has served as director of Summer School for the past two years, chairman of the district's Mathematics Council, and has contributed to various newspapers and educational journals in the field of curriculum writings. Rodriguez resides with his wife and three sons on Merritt dr. in El Cajon.

William Schell, former principal of Highlands elementary school, was named director of the Instructional Materials Department. With 15 years of service with the district as teacher, principal, and director of Summer School for one year, Schell holds both the A.B. and M.A. degrees from San Diego State and Claremont Graduate School. At the present time he is enrolled at U.C.L.A. Graduate School where he is studying towards his doctorate. Schell was chosen to serve as the N.D.E.A. administrative consultant for the State of California for five and a half months this past year. The Schells and their four children reside on Mt. Helix in La Mesa.

George Ashton, teacher and assistant to the principal at various schools for the past ten years in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District, has been named as resource teacher in the curriculum department.

Ashton graduated from the University of Redlands with an A.B. in sociology and obtained his master's degree from San Diego State. In addition, he has attended the Claremont Graduate School and possesses both the General Elementary Teaching Credential and the Elementary Administrative Credential.

Ashton has held various offices in the Teachers Association and was a recipient of the Freedom Foundation awards. He also served as a directing teacher for students from San Diego State College. The Ashtons have one daughter and reside at 9245 Mollywoods ave., La Mesa.

Witnesses End Assembly at Rose Bowl

PASADENA — "Man's time limit for exercising sovereignty over the earth has nearly expired and God's resumption of full control will soon be seen," Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Society, told Jehovah's Witnesses at the wind-up session of the eight-day "Everlasting Good News" Assembly which concluded Sunday at the Rose Bowl.

Some 234 local witnesses were among the 118,447 convention delegates and visitors who heard Knorr deliver the highlight address of the convention, "When God Is King over All the Earth."

Knorr pointed out how man's efforts to establish ideal governments have failed. He cited as evidence skyrocketing costs of government on all levels, labor problems, population explosion, food shortages and fear of nuclear war.

"Seemingly, it is within mankind's power today to commit world suicide," he noted. "The situation looks impossible!"

He traced the world's troubles from the time of the rebellion against God's rule in Eden to the present day saying, "It is very plain to see that, in all this, God the Creator is being ignored by men, to their own hurt."

"Since 1914 — all the nations of this world have been in their time of the end. They have continually been told of this by Jehovah's Witnesses, who, in the face of world opposition and persecution, have been preaching the everlasting good news of God's kingdom."

Knorr warned: "God, not world politicians and statesmen, will determine when this 'time of the end' shall close. Shortly, the clock of universal time will strike the hour, and the war of the great day of God the Almighty will break out, not by accident or by human miscalculation, but because God has had enough of mankind's opposition and ignoring of him."

State Budget Running Ahead Of Last Year

SACRAMENTO — The close of the first month of the 1963-64 fiscal year saw the State running ahead of last year both in General Fund revenues and expenditures, State Controller Alan Cranston reported recently.

The Controller's monthly report showed revenues of $73,986,199 collected in July — a 5.45 per cent increase over July of last year. Governmental cost expenditures totaled $141,076,046 — up 16 per cent.

The cash balance in the General Fund on July 31 was $50,251,070, compared with $75,311,271 last year.

The increase in expenditures reflected a $3,200,000 payment for redemption of construction fund bonds which fell due in July, the withdrawal of a revolving fund advance by the University of California and increased expenditures in the aid to needy aged and school apportionment programs.

The sales tax intake for July was $40,495,780, up 6.2 per cent from the same month a year ago.

Other major sources of revenue produced the following amounts:

Bank and corporation franchise and income taxes, $9,359,488; personal income tax, $4,945,210; cigarette tax, $6,069,223; and liquor taxes, $4,742,398.

Major expenditures were: School apportionments, $39,505,874; University of California, $3,868,134; aid to needy aged, $15,835,334; bond interest and redemption, $8,941,838; and aid to needy children, $6,833,063.

RAGGEDY MAN AND MIMI — Marie Hitchcock, proclaimed San Diego's official Puppet Lady, goes through song and dance routine with the Raggedy Man, one of her favorite marionettes who appears in all of her shows. The Raggedy Man dances to the tune of "I Know an Old Lady" which comedian Jack Harris recorded and has given Mrs. Hitchcock special permission to use.

Marie Hitchcock Named Official S.D. Puppet Lady

The shows will be presented the first four Sundays before Christmas.

A group of Spring Valley children are circulating a petition to make Mrs. Hitchcock marshal of the El Cajon Mother Goose parade. "The kids call me Mimi," she remarked casually.

Mimi will appear on the Zoomara television show October 23 with the pheasants, love birds, quail partridge, mynah bird, peacock and other birds she raises at her home at 3000 Helix st., Spring Valley.

Started With Sister

Marie Hitchcock began her puppet performances in 14 years ago with her sister, Genevieve Engman of San Diego.

Since their beginning, Mrs. Hitchcock has given shows in county schools, libraries, at the Puppet Theatre in Balboa Park, for clubs and at private affairs. She even performed with her marionettes at the Eighth Annual Festival of Music in Anchorage, Alaska.

Dog Called Bum

Last year Mrs. Hitchcock said she did 200 individual shows. She does one free show a week. She also wrote a children's book called, A Dog Called Bum, which is carried by all county schools and libraries. Proceeds from the book are donated to the Hearing, Education and Auditory Research Foundation, which fits children as young as six weeks old with hearing aids, she said.

The Puppet Lady and her sister write and arrange the music for their marionettes plays. Two of the plays, "Once Upon a Toothache" and "Once Upon a Downbeat" have gained national recognition, Mrs. Hitchcock said.

Puppet Theater Shows

Marie and her two teenage nieces, Elaine and Patricia Engman, will do 12 shows at the Puppet Theatre in Balboa Park.

Well Rounded Gals To Model Fashions

TOPS Lemon Peelers, local chapter of the national organization dedicated to help members Take Off Pounds Sensibly, will present a unique fashion show this Saturday at 11 a.m.

Using "well rounded" members of the TOPS club as models, the program will be designed to show other women who are equally plagued by excess padding that, with a little care and thought, it is possible to wear styles that minimize rather than accent one's measurements.

None of the fashions displayed at the show in the Lemon Grove Junior high school cafeteria will be of the store-bought variety. A low calorie luncheon will be served preceding the modelling of fashions which members have made themselves, or have had made for them. Members also will provide entertainment.

Highlight of the fashion show will be the presentation of the club's Cinderella. Her identity is known only to herself; the chairman of the affair, Mrs. Audrey Miller; and Larry Evans, a designer who is creating an outfit custom designed for Cinderella.

Evans has had considerable experience in designing and has created styles for several Hollywood personalities, according to Mrs. Miller. He hopes to establish himself as a designer for residents of this area and the TOPS Lemon Peelers' fashion show will provide an introduction of his talents to those in attendance.

All local women are cordially invited to the event, Mrs. Miller said. Ticket chairman is Miss Linda Nugent, who may be contacted at 466-2308.

A major schedule change in its new real estate program and the appointment of a prominent "shirt-sleeves" instructor have been announced by Grossmont College for the fall semester.

Aimed at facilitating attendance in the basic course, Principles of Real Estate, the change sets class hours for Monday, 9 a.m. to noon. Previously the class had been scheduled to meet on three separate days.

Real Estate Sales Steady

Real estate sales in Lemon Grove, Spring Valley and La Mesa remained steady during July.

San Diego County Real Estate Trends, published by Title Insurance and Trust Company, recorded 268 real estate sales in July, compared to 252 the previous month and 216 a year ago in July.

James C. Downs, Jr., editor of Trends, said current national business trends favor San Diego in a rather unique way. Reason? The prosperity of the year 1963, more than anything, is a consumer's prosperity.

More than 70.8 million people are now at work each day. Their average pay check is higher than ever before, with industrial workers receiving an average wage income of more than $100 per week for the first time in history.

Downs continued with the statement that special impact on San Diego economy is to be found in the upsurge of tourism which is a dramatic part of the present consumer spending spree.

More Americans will spend more money on more extravagant vacations this year than ever before. Every form of transportation is recording a heavy increase in traffic.
